The Authorities are complaining very bitterly that their orders in regard to the disuse of kerosine have not been carried out in their entirety, but it is well known that their ire would have been far greater had they knows that the flus-hai lottery was being carried on with as much success as ever. The new edict regarding kerosine oil at this particular time suited thouamen runners remarkably well and they will have had a fine opportunity of making money to meet the expenses of their New Year festivities.
